

Online Master's in Educational Administration with Principal's License

Jeremy Coleman
Ball State Alumnus

“This master’s program taught me to think like an administrator.”

Jeremy Coleman, principal of Indianapolis’ Brookview Elementary, says Ball State University’s online master of arts in education (MAE) in educational administration and supervision gave him the push he needed: “The MAE was rigorous. It was challenging. It was the jolt I needed to see leadership clearly.”

- Internships are fulfilled within your own school district.
- With a master’s degree, you just need the 24-credit license to become a principal.
- No GRE needed for admission—you can apply quickly and start on your degree.
- Receive an application fee waiver after the webinar, just for registering.

Register for an upcoming Webinar
bsu.edu/online/EdAdmin
September 27 | 6 p.m. Eastern
November 9 | 6 p.m. Eastern

bsu.edu/online/EdAdmin

BALL STATE
ONLINE